The Paul Simon Public Policy Institute offers the Law, Policy and Politics Externship for a limited number of 2L, 3L and rising 2L law students throughout the year.

Responsibilities:
Externs work with the Institute staff, faculty and graduate students in other disciplines. Externs are supervised by a licensed attorney and may have the opportunity to present at Institute sponsored events, publish in the Simon Review, or work with people at partner organizations off-campus. Routine assignments will include legal research and writing, including policy research memos, policy proposals, legislative initiatives, compliance memos, legislative history memos, and may include presentation preparation and delivery. The Institute strives to afford externs the opportunity to pursue research into at least one topic of their interest related to the Institute’s mission.

About the Institute:
The Paul Simon Public Policy Institute, a nonpartisan think tank, acts on significant and controversial issues impacting the region, the state, the nation, and the world. It is committed to developing and working to implement approaches that could bring concrete, positive results in tackling some of the most difficult challenges in the public policy arena. The Institute focuses its efforts on fostering ethical conduct in government, opportunity and fair treatment for citizens in America and throughout the world, and promoting responsible citizenship for all Americans—particularly young Americans. Externs will have the opportunity to learn the dynamics at play in the formulation of law/policy and the influence of politics and interest groups.

How to apply:
Applications and any questions should be emailed to Delio Calzolari, Esq., Associate Director at delio@siu.edu. Applications should be submitted in one Adobe PDF document and include a letter of interest (cover letter), résumé, unofficial transcript, and a list of at least two references, respectively.

Applications for SPRING 2015 must be received before 11:59 PM: MONDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2014.

A limited number of applicants will be offered interviews.
